

Drag the correct word(s) to its definition below.

audience

things to know about your audience

d)

Who they are, what level of information they have about your subject, and the context in which they'll be reading.

purpose for writing

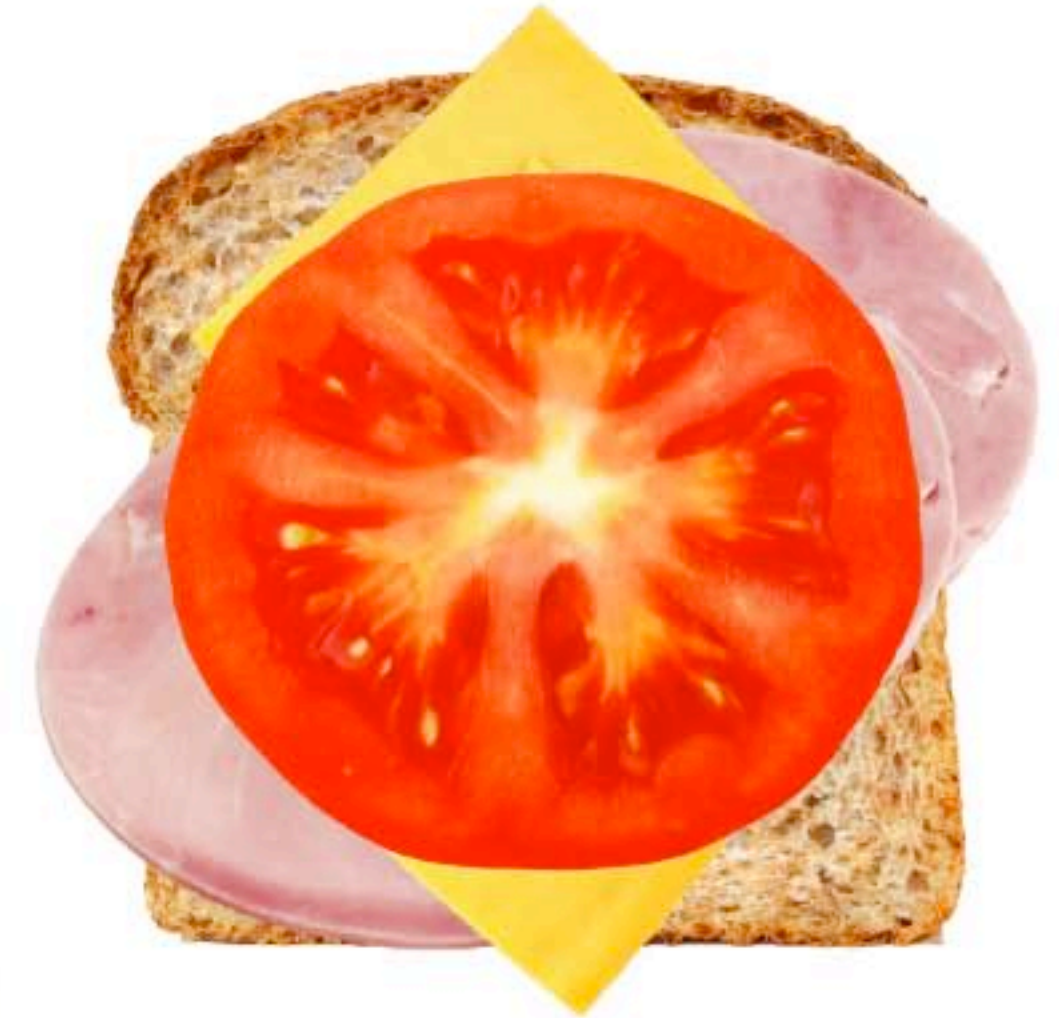

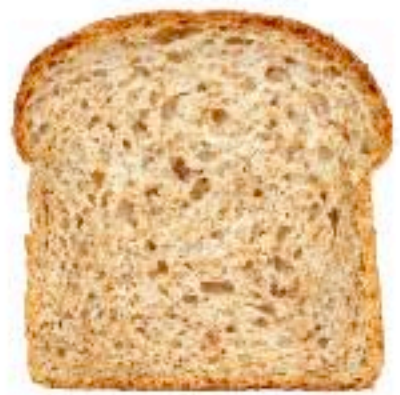

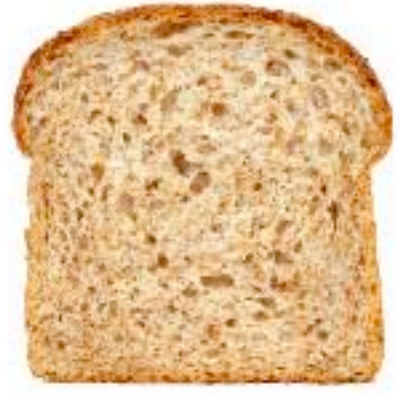

e)

Your reason for writing.

f)

Anyone who reads or hears your writing.

Paragraph Sandwich

3rd Supporting Detail

The third supporting detail is the last detail in the middle of your paragraph that explains the main idea introduced in your topic sentence.

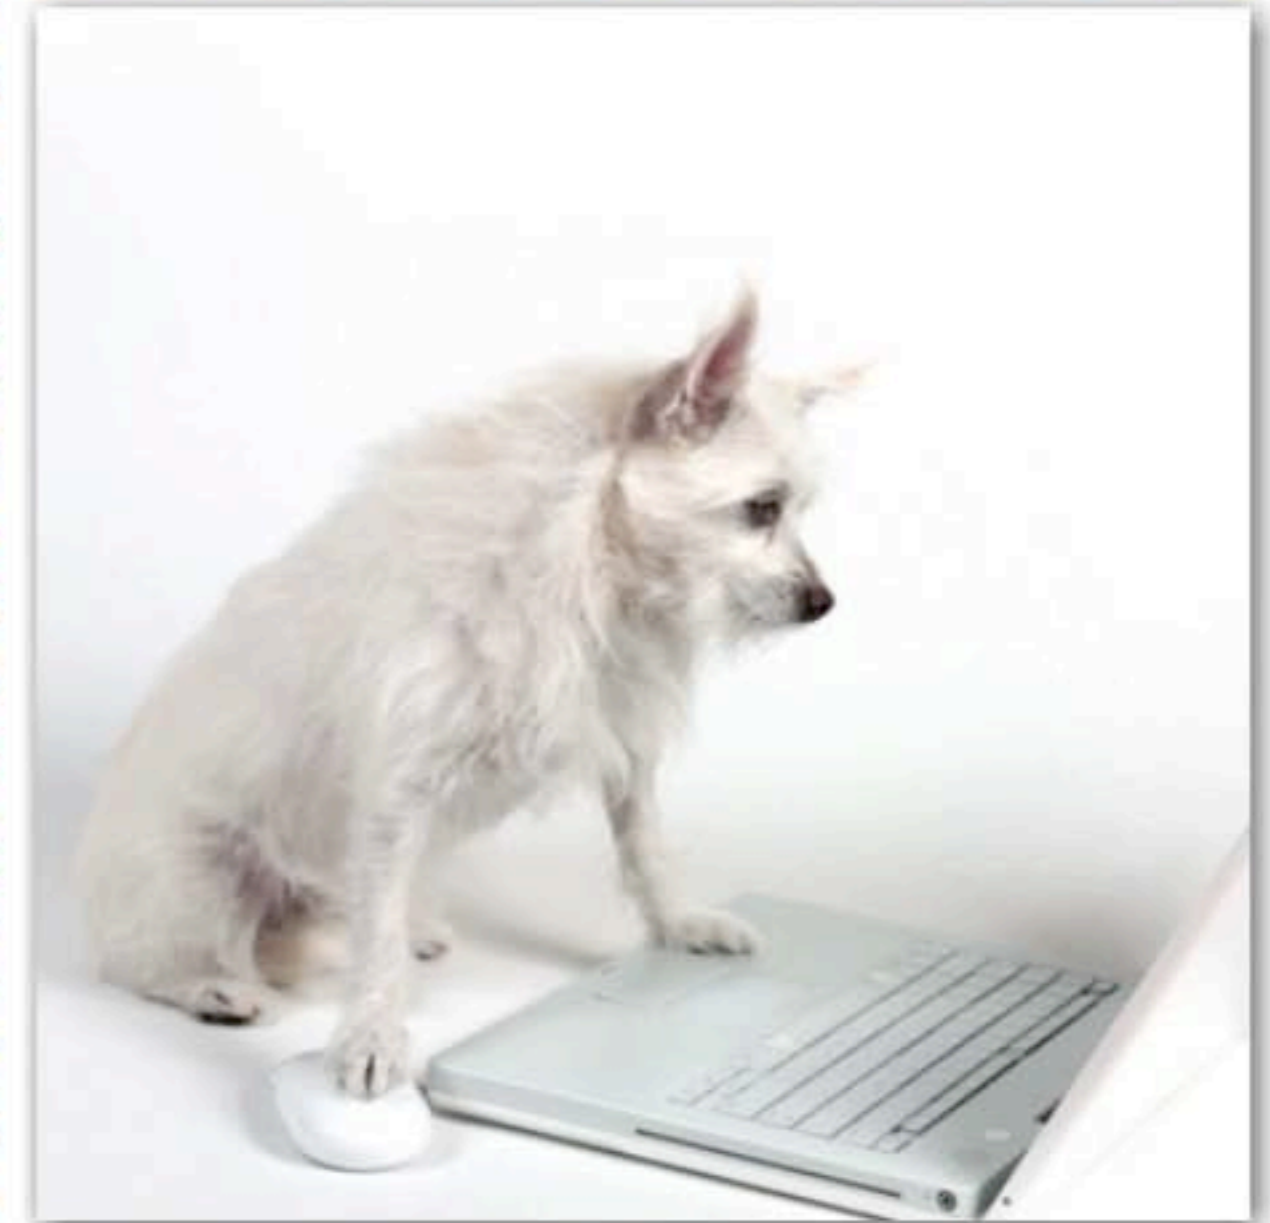

Reset

Good writing does not just happen magically. All writers must understand that writing is a process with several steps to the goal of a finished composition. We have learned that prewriting is the first step in the writing process. Prewriting involves choosing a topic, brainstorming ideas about the topic, and organizing your ideas in order to write sentences and paragraphs.

The second step in the writing process is called drafting. Drafting is the process of putting your ideas on paper as sentences and paragraphs. When you draft, you

The Writing Watch Dog says...

(touch the image to enlarge)

continue reading 