Drag the correct word(s) from the list to complete the sentence.

WELL DONE!

✓ a) A _____conclusion_____ is a sensible decision you reach based on details or facts in a story or article.

✓ b) _____details_____ are a series of bits of information about the main topic of a story or reading selection.

✓ c) _drawing conclusions_ is a very important reading comprehension skill.

Reset

PULL

Being able to draw conclusions from your reading is another very important reading comprehension skill to have. For instance, authors don't always tell you the main idea of a selection. Sometimes, they suggest it through a series of small bits of information or details that add up to one main idea. They leave it to you to draw the right conclusion based on the hints you get from the story. A conclusion is a sensible decision you reach based on details or facts in a story or article.

There are four questions you can ask yourself that will help you draw conclusions as you read:

continue reading ↘

Questions to Ask Before Drawing Conclusions
1. What facts have I learned about the subject from the story?

Conclusions Chart

Buffalo are members of the cattle family. At one time, huge herds of buffalo ro___d the Gr___ Plains. The Native Americans of the Great Plai___ _he buffalo. They ate the meat an__ ___ __ __ __ __ hides and fur. They also car___ _____ __ __ ____ _____. The Natives of the Great Plains had great respect for the buffalo.

WELL DONE!

Fact	Fact	Fact
ate the meat	made clothes and tents from hides and fur	carved buffalo horns into tools

Conclusion

The buffalo is very important to the way of life for the Native Americans of the Great Plains.

Reset