

Flashback Timeline

Jacob has a softball tournament this weekend. He has been practicing for it the last two weeks. Yesterday, his team got together for their last practice. Tomorrow he plans to practice on his own. If Jacob's team wins the tournament, they will receive trophies and go out as ten.

Instructions

Close X

Read the following passage.

In it are examples of flashback and foreshadowing.

Complete the Flashback Timeline graphic organizer variation by putting the events in chronological order, starting with the earliest on top.

Drag the highlighted text to its correct position in the chart.

(fifth)

(sixth)

Reset

Flashback Timeline

Jacob has a softball tournament this weekend. He has been practicing for it the last two weeks. Yesterday, his team got together for their last practice. Tomorrow he plans to practice on his own. If Jacob's team wins the tournament, they will receive trophies and go out for pizza. Jacob has been playing softball since he was ten.

✓ playing softball

(second)

(third)

(fourth)

(fifth)

(sixth)

Flashback: Jacob “has been” playing softball hints at the event occurring in the past.

Reset

Flashback Timeline

Jacob has a softball tournament this weekend. He has been practicing for it. The team got together for their last practice on his own. If Jacob's team wins the tournament, they will receive trophies and go out for pizza. Jacob has been playing softball since he was ten.

WELL DONE!

playing softball

practicing

last practice

practice on his own

softball tournament

wins the tournament

Foreshadowing: The team will receive trophies and pizza if they “win the tournament”, hinting at the event occurring later on.

Reset