WELL DONE!

Taste and smell are very important senses. Bad or unpleasant tastes can warn us that food is rotten. The smell of smoke tells us to look for fire. Taste and smell is not the same thing, but they are connected to each other. Did you know that if a person has no sense of smell they cannot taste many foods either? You can try this for yourself. Eat a piece of raw apple and then a piece of raw potato. Hold your nose shut when eating both. Believe it or not, the apple and the potato will taste the same without the help of the sense of smell!
