Reading Passage Main Idea

Using Graphic Organizers to Identify Main Idea

In addition to the main idea, you will find one or more supporting details are included in the selection. Supporting details are pieces of information that tell about the main idea. They define, explain, prove or analyze the main idea of a text. An excellent way of keeping your thoughts in order is to use a graphic organizer — a diagram or drawing that helps you organize your ideas on paper.

Florida manatees are elephant's cousins. They live in the water near the coast of Florida. Instead of small ears like an elephant, the manatee has large ears. Elephants and manatees may be cousins, but they are not very much alike.

Reading Passage Theme

Using Graphic Organizers to Identify Theme

Graphic organizers show the structure or make-up of concepts as well as the relationships between concepts. They help you separate more important information from the less important. They also give you more strategies or tools for learning. Graphic organizers help you to pinpoint the theme of a story by asking you to identify the main theme and the parts of the story which relate to it.

Flashback Timeline

Jacob has a softball tournament this weekend. He has been practicing for it the last two weeks. Yesterday, his team got together for their last practice. Tomorrow he plans to practice on his own. If Jacob's team wins the tournament, they will receive trophies and go out for pizza. Jacob has been playing softball since he was ten.

Decision Tree

You and a friend are walking home from school on a warm afternoon when you come to a fork in the road. The road to the left takes you through a forest and will take you longer to get to your house. The road to the right is quicker, but takes you through a construction site.

Do you:

GO LEFT

GO RIGHT

Do you:

CLIMB THE LADDER

CONTINUE ON THE PATH

Do you:

INVESTIGATE THE BUSHES

IGNORE AND CONTINUE

You approach the rustling bushes and start prying them apart with your hands. Startled, a rabbit jumps out at you sending you both down into a mud puddle.

Using Graphic Organizers with Asking Questions

A good critical thinker asks questions. There are four (4) types of critical thinking questions: "Getting the Facts", "Evaluating the Facts", "Drawing a Conclusion using Logic", and "Evaluating a Conclusion". Each type of critical thinking question has its own set of questions to help you reach an informed decision. These steps to reaching a conclusion can be easier to reach with the help of a graphic organizer.

A Narrow Miss

Life was very exciting at Mills Elementary School yesterday morning. A car broke through the fence and ran into the brick wall at the front of the school. No one was injured, but all 300 students had racing hearts. The accident happened at 8:25 a.m. A nearly new SUV driven by Ken Smith slammed into the school property after Smith fell asleep at the wheel. "I'm ashamed," Smith said. "I must be the dumbest driver in the world!"

Critical Thinking Questions

The mysterious Bermuda Triangle has done it again. Flight 817, flying from New York to Puerto Rico last Friday, vanished while flying over the Bermuda Triangle. The plane showed no signs of distress when it disappeared from radar. Popular beliefs place blame on extraterrestrial activity.

Getting the Facts: Flight 817 vanished, Bermuda Triangle last Friday, extraterrestrial activity

Evaluating the Facts: It can be proven that Flight 817 vanished off radar. There is no proof that extraterrestrials are to blame. Did Flight 817 arrive at its destination?

There are many skills you can use to improve your reading comprehension (the ability to read and understand the meaning of a text). One of these skills is finding the main idea. The main idea of a reading selection is its most important part. The main idea is also what the author wants you to understand or remember about the selection. Other reading comprehension skills include: sequencing, recognizing inferences and conclusions, and using context clues.
