

Let's Make a Book

The ultimate goal of a creative writing program is to develop independent authorship.

The following bookmaking patterns and story frames may be used as a stepping stone towards working and writing independently.

Why Not?

1. Photocopy the pages onto coloured bond paper for added effect. Construction paper can be used for front and back covers.
2. Set up a Bookmaking Centre, equipped with bookmaking patterns, scissors, glue, construction paper, plain and lined paper and library pockets and cards (to set up your own class library).

List of Patterns

- |                     |                       |
|---------------------|-----------------------|
| 1. My Kitty         | 6. My Sheep Book      |
| 2. Where's Dasher?  | 7. In My Mitten       |
| 3. I Like the Night | 8. My Magic Runners   |
| 4. Up in a Rocket   | 9. Cats! *            |
| 5. Hats!            | 10. A Chicken Story * |

* patterns only, no story frame

On Monday,
I gave my kitty
1 big basket to sleep in.

On Thursday,
I gave my kitty
4 bowls of warm
milk to drink.

1. Use your crayons to make a fancy hat cover.
2. Complete the pages with your pictures.
3. Cut out the pages and staple together.

